

Writing the Rules for Europe: Experts, Cartels, International Organizations
By Wolfram Kaiser and Johan Schot

Contents

Introduction

1 Origins of Technocratic Internationalism

Trading Goods for Prosperity and Peace
Reshaping Relations through Communication
Transforming the World through Association
Regulating Europe through Organization
Fragility of the International Machinery

2 The Power and Fragility of Experts

Reconciling the Worlds of Diplomats and Experts
Towards Post-War Reconstruction
Commissariat or Foreign Office Domination?
Transit: Model for the League?
Technocratic Methods for Totalitarian Dictatorships

3 From Divided Europe to “Core Europe”

Myrdals post-war pan-Europe
From Marshall Plan to OEEC
Planning in Eastern Europe
Talking Supranational in Western Europe
Shaping a Legal Community

4 Europe of the Standard Gauge

Local Lines and European Choices
Mediating Tensions
Standardizing Technological Zones
Transnational Collaboration under Pressure

5 Tensions in Railway Europe

Transnational Organizations Competing

Returning Railway Wagons
Overcoming Old Divisions
Collaborating in East-Central Europe
Working Together in the West
Building Global Connections

6 Canons and Cartels

Travel, Technology, Transfers
From National to Transnational Cartels
Cartels, Reconciliation, Peace
World Economic Conference and Beyond
Anti-Trust Law and Cartel Culture
Continuities in “Core Europe” Organization

7 Technology Cooperation in Steel Europe

Rebuilding East-West Links
Expanding International Organization
Negotiating Investment Plans
Diffusing Technological Innovation
International Organizations, Technology, Transfers
Collaborating in Research
Competition and Cooperation

8 Towards European Union Hegemony

Hothouse of Supranationalism?
Deepening and Widening the Community
Market Integration in a Customs Union
Towards one Technological Zone
Regulating the Internal Market
Forward to the Past

Conclusion